Speakers Announced For Forum

The San Antonio Junior Chamber of Commerce Thursday announced the names of four of the speakers who have accepted invitations to appear at the "Let's Look at America" forum to be held in Municipal Auditorium Sept. 29.

The speakers are Ezra Taft Benson, former secretary of agriculture and author of "The Red Carpet"; Fulton Lewis Jr., nationally known radio commentator and winner of the American Legion's Bill of Rights Defense Gold Medal; W. Cleon Skousen, noted lecturer and author of "The Naked Communist," and Col. Victor J. Fox, retired naval aviator, former member of the Central Intelligence Agency, and former Pentagon staff officer. He is also author of "The Pentagon Case."

John Pearce, general chairman of the forum, announced the speakers' acceptance at the regular Jaycee luncheon meeting.

Pearce stated that all speakers are "qualified as dedicated anti-Communists who are trained and experienced in fighting this menace and protecting our freedoms."

Pearce added the committee was still looking for liberal representatives. Invitations were sent Edward R. Murrow, Bishop Fulton J. Sheen, Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy, U. S. Sen. Thomas Dodd and U. S. Sen. John McClellan, but all declined, Pearce said.
